Lawrence County Passes Quota In War Bond Drive

Announce Total Sales In County Stand At $7,174,629.50—Quota Is $6,662,500

FOURTH SUCCESSIVE DRIVE RECORD HERE

Staying right in the groove it marked out in the days of 1861, Lawrence County has once again met and passed its war time demand. Chairman W. Walter Braham and Co-Chairman Joel S. McKee today announce that the total sales in the Fourth War Loan Campaign in this county stood at $7,174,629.50 which is $512,129 over the quota of $6,662,500.

Lawrence County was one of the two western Pennsylvania counties to have a perfect record at the end of the third war loan. This time it may be the only county to have a four straight record.

Still Need Sales Of E Bonds.
In the jubilation that might naturally arise from the feat of exceeding this large quota there is an element of dissatisfaction. The "E" bond quota here is still far behind. The county quota is $2,086,500. The

That sign "dangerous hill" at the top of North Mercer street was probably exceedingly appropriate last night until the hill was thoroughly ashed.

100 lbs. of waste paper will make 200 containers for blood plasma. So start saving now. It will help save a boy's life!

SAVE SOME BLOOD

The tail end of the midwest blizzard which struck this city last night, yesterday, witnessed the snow plows of the state highway department getting into action for the first time this winter.

Likewise weather conditions that developed overnight saw a lot more autos with chains on the wheels than has been in evidence at any period previously this winter.

Today is Lincoln's birthday anniversary. And Monday is Valentine day.

Some real snow shovelling exercises was received by a lot of householders last night and this morning, in clearing the sidewalks at their premises. Of course, there were a lot who didn't get the exercise, and didn't clear the snow.

Following the unusually mild winter so far enjoyed, the conditions that developed overnight resulted in more traffic accidents than have been reported in many weeks. Travel was treacherous last night.

Pa Newc is informed that when a motorist was driving up a street on which coasting was in progress last night, five or six of the coasters hit their sleds to the back of his auto. This is a dangerous practice that should be halted.

Last night several girls were noted coasting on Highland avenue near the curve at Garfield avenue. Pa Newc is informed. With auto driving as treacherous as it was last night, this was an unusually dangerous place to be sledriding.

Lawrence County Germans Speed Work On Europe's Defenses

By CAPT. JOHN H. CRAIG
(Written Especially For N.S.S.)

Reports and advices from abroad depict German engineers as working with frantic energy on their defenses of Europe's western coast. Nazi propaganda broadcasts and dispatches from neutral sources alike make it evident that the Germans agree with United Nations authorities in their estimate that 1944 is to be the year of decision in the war against Germany and that the coming great American-British amphibious thrust will prove the decisive stroke.

The German people and the soldiers of the Wehrmacht are being told by press and radio that their army can hold up the Russian advance indefinitely when the pre-

New Attacks On Jap-Held Atolls In The Marshalls

Aerial And Naval Blows Against New Jap Positions Are Reported

ATTACKS ON WAKE ISLAND CONTINUE

By CLYDE GREEN
(N.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 12.—New aerial and naval blows against Jap-held atolls in the Marshalls indicated today that further invasions by American soldiers and marines are being planned or already under way.

In his latest communique, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced that army bombers and fighters pounded "enemy held Marshall islands atolls" on February 10 with 100 tons of explosives, while warships bombarded "an important atoll" without drawing return fire.

Wake Island Hit Again

At the same time, navy Coronado bombers attached to Fleet Airwing Two carried out the second attack against Wake Island, less than 700 miles to the north, within two days. This was believed to be a diversionary raid to neutralize the Jap air base on Wake and prevent aid from reaching beleaguered enemy garrisons in the Marshalls.

There was no mention of what damage was inflicted at Wake Island.

STATE HIGHWAY EMPLOYEES HURT

Matteo Gemma Of Hillsville Critically Injured When Hit Near Edensburg

Matteo Gemma, aged 66 years, of Hillsville, employee of the state highway department, is in the Jameson Memorial hospital in a critical condition, as the result of injuries received at 8:10 o'clock Friday evening when the truck on which he was working, passing the Edensburg hill, was struck by a U. S. army truck, being driven east on an embankment point by Cecil A. Baker, an employee of Howard-Suber, Inc.

According to Tony Micco of Hillsville, foreman of the crew, who was driving the highway department truck, a row of army trucks came down over the Edensburg hill at a fairly high rate of speed, and when the truck driven by Baker started to get too close to the truck ahead of him, Baker applied the brakes, causing it to skid toward the highway truck. Micco said he pulled toward the ditch, but was unable to avoid being struck.

Gemma received a fractured skull and other injuries when he was hurled off the truck by the impact of the collision. Micco sustained a laceration of the ear and bruises of the legs, while Joseph Chialdone of Hillsville, another member of the crew, suffered lacerations of the chin and forehead. They were able to be taken home after receiving treatment at the Jameson hospital.

ESTIMATE GERMAN LOSE 500 PLANES IN PAST TWO WEEKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(INS)—An estimated 500 German fighter planes were reported today to have been destroyed during the last two weeks of Allied aerial blows upon the Reich and its supporting military installations.

CBS recorded a British radio broadcast telling of the Nazi setbacks. Most of the Nazi fighters were downed over Germany itself, the announcer added, pointing out that the Luftwaffe now is believed suffering from a shortage of planes in this category.

Home-Made Bomb Takes Youth's Life

ROCHESTER, Pa., Feb. 12.—(INS)—An experiment with explosives was blamed today for the death of Jerome Ross Schlarb, 17, of Allegheny, who died in Rochester General hospital after a home-made bomb exploded in his hand.

He had enlisted as an air cadet, expecting to report for duty at close of the school term. He was president of the Hopewell township high school's senior class, and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Schlarb.

Rocket Gun Coast Heavily Pounded By U. S. Bombers

Powerful Fleets Rain Great Volume Of Bombs On 'Invasion Coast'

DEVASTATING RAIDS ALMOST CONTINUOUS

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(N.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Feb. 12.—Powerful fleets of fighter-escorted bombers, paced by giant American Liberators, pounded the "rocket gun coast" of France today in the wake of night Mosquito attacks on targets in central and western Germany and extensive mining of enemy waters.

For the second time in as many days, the big four-motored bombers roared over the cloud-covered Straits of Dover to rain a heavy weight of explosives on objectives in the Pas de Calais area.

Other fleets of medium bombers and fighters also struck at the northwest French coast near Calais and Boulogne as the softening-up campaign roared toward a climax.

Following up the night raids, which were carried out without loss, the new attacks against defenses shielded the menaced coast from the fifth consecutive day of increasing assaults by American and British war planes of all types and sizes against mystery "military installations" opposite the Dover coast.

Almost Continuous

Executing their 13th operation within 16 days, the Liberators soared over the French coast shortly after dawn, escorted by swarms of deadly American Thunderbolt and Mustang fighters.

Indicating the night's mining of enemy waters was on a large scale, observers on England's south and southeast coast reported that strong forces of RAF heavy bombers soared

Seek To Raise Wrecked Plane

Believe 24 Persons Still Inside Plane Which Plunged Into Mississippi River

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 12.—(INS)—Heavier salvage equipment was awaited today to complete removal of the wreckage of an American Airlines plane from the Mississippi river, 15 miles south of Memphis, where it fell Thursday night, carrying 24 persons to their deaths.

U. S. engineers late yesterday succeeded in raising one wing and the fuselage of the plane to the surface of the river but were unable to take it from the water without heavier equipment.

The fuselage is believed to contain the bodies of the 21 passengers, most of them military personnel, and three crew members of the plane.

None of the bodies has been recovered.

The plane, enroute from Los Angeles to New York, plunged into the Mississippi near Cow Island, 15 miles south of Memphis, about 11:30 p. m. Thursday. It lodged in 30 feet of water about 25 feet of the island shore.

DEMAND PROSECUTION FOR DEATH OF GIRL IN PITTSBURGH CAVEIN

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 12.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh city council was on record today as demanding criminal prosecution in the death of Julie Ann Fulmer, 3, who was engulfed by a mine cave-in Tuesday while walking in a residential section.

Following a coroner's inquest yesterday, Pittsburgh and mine officials inspected the cave area in an effort to fix the responsibility for the tragedy. Gov. Edward Martin was slated to send a representative to the scene today for investigation.

The girl, whose father is on active duty with the navy, was buried yesterday afternoon. Her body was recovered Wednesday.

Russian Mobile Forces Racing For Bug River

Seek To Cut Off German Escape Route After Seizing Shepetovks

REDS BIG GUNS POUND KORSUN

By NATALIA RENE
(N.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Feb. 12.—Powerful Russian mobile columns raced toward the Bug River and the German escape route along the Odessa-Lwow railroad in a new Ukrainian offensive today after seizing the five-way junction of Shepetovks, through which Nazi reserves moved to all fronts.

Two hundred miles to the east, Soviet troops closed in on the remnants of ten Nazi divisions trapped near Cherkassy while Russian big guns pounded Korsun, German headquarters base and last enemy stronghold in the 16-mile-long Dniester-bank bridgehead.

Repulse Nazi Effort

Soviet spearheads were reported within a mile of Korsun after Gen. Ivan S. Konev's forces occupied ten more towns and villages in the rapidly-shrinking bridgehead and beat down an eleven-hour Nazi attempt to break through and relieve the encircled divisions.

More than 3,000 additional German troops were wiped out Friday as the battle of annihilation neared.

Large Area Of Nation In Grip Of Storm Wave

Blizzards And Sub-Zero Temperatures In Midwest Area Push Eastward

(International News Service)

Sub-zero temperatures gripped large portions of the midwest today following a blizzard that swept eastward from the great plains states to the Atlantic seaboard, leaving death and suffering in its wake.

Nearly a score of deaths were attributed to the storm over the vast storm-lashed area, where gales whipped the snow into drifts that disrupted all modes of travel.

The storm was accountable for six deaths in New York City, where the snow continued falling today after piling up to a depth of seven inches yesterday. A coal shortage in the face of the skating thermometer caused untold hardship.

Second Storm Hits

The fuel oil and coal shortage also was described as "acute" in Philadelphia and Pennsylvania, where a second storm struck today.

Rabaul-Wewak Given Another Heavy Pounding

Big Jap Bases In Southwest Pacific Get 298 Tons Of Bombs In Raids

MANY JAP DEAD FOUND ON HUON

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(N.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS New Guinea, Feb. 12.—New ruins marked Japan's big southwest Pacific bases at Rabaul and Wewak today after Allied airmen poured 298 tons of bombs on the Jap strongholds and downed at least 20 and probably 27 enemy planes over Rabaul.

The Vunakanau and Tobara airfields at Rabaul, on New Britain's northeast tip, were pounded again as the air offensive to knock the base out of the war roared through its sixth week of day-to-day assaults.

Some 250 bombers "of all categories" and escorting fighters poured 98 tons of explosives on the two Rabaul strongholds, igniting fires and scoring "numerous" hits on gun positions, runways, dispersal areas and buildings. Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced.

When 50 Jap fighters attempted interception, 20 promptly were shot.

Brief Convention Seen For Democrats

Announcement Made That National Convention Will Open On July 19

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(INS)—Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan's announcement today that the party's Chicago convention would be a "half-week" affair opening on July 19 was interpreted today as further evidence that President Roosevelt will be a fourth-term candidate.

For the first time in the memory of Washington political observers, the Democrats—through Hannegan—fixed the opening date of their nominating sessions for midweek, beginning on a Wednesday instead of on a Monday or Tuesday. The Republicans meet in Chicago June 24.

Hannegan, in apparent emphasis of party expectations that the convention will be "short and sweet," said business of the 1944 meeting should be concluded by the end of the week.

Allied Lines In Italy Are Holding Positions Intact

Repulse All Attempts Of Nazis To Crush Anzio Beachhead

WEATHER HALTS AIR ACTIVITIES

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(N.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

ALGIERS, Feb. 12.—Granite-like lines of American and British fighting men, battered by surging waves of Nazi hordes for four successive days, were officially revealed today to have maintained their battlefront positions virtually intact despite all enemy efforts to crush the Anzio beachhead.

Allied headquarters spokesmen announced tersely that the front lines south of Rome, manned by British "tomnies" and American doughboys through 100 hours of more of relentless combat, "remain relatively unchanged."

Long Battle Expected

Despite the tense situation, the spokesmen said, there was no undue pessimism over the outlook. Pressure against the beachhead, they declared, had been somewhat relieved, but a prolonged battle can be expected.

Hitler will not succeed in his hopes to drive the Allies back into the sea, the spokesman asserted, and in the long run "the enemy will get a bloody nose."

The Anzio landing was not an isolated battle and figures importantly in the general war picture.

Second Field Hospital Hit By Nazi Shells

Two Women Nurses Are Killed In Latest Bombing Outrage In Italy

By REYNOLDS PACKARD
Representing the Combined American Press

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY AT ANZIO BEACHHEAD, Feb. 11.—Delayed—Four German shells, landed in an American field hospital which was carefully marked with Red Cross flags, both on the tent and spread on the ground, killed two women nurses and wounded four medical officers and three enlisted men.

This makes a total of six American nurses killed on this beachhead since the landings three weeks ago tomorrow.

The other four American nurses were killed during a German air bombing of an American evacuation hospital a few days ago.

Four shells landed last evening beginning at 5:30 p. m. and ending at 8:45 p. m. The first one hit the road in front of the receiving tent. The second shell hit the receiving tent and the last two went through the ward tents.

Light System Hit

Shrapnel hit the generator of the electric light system, plunging all of the tents, including the operating tent, into darkness.

It's a short month, but a tough month, and usually you will see a lot of snow and some icy days and a sub-normal mercury. It just may be that because he's small he wants to act large and tough, and that's why February is cold and usually windy and rough. It's usually so of a little guy, he wants to look big and tall and he sometimes quotes that the bigger they are the harder they're likely to fall. But February is here in style, as rough as you've ever seen, and it's cold today, and there's plenty of snow and the weather is seventeen.

Fehl Tells How Blood Is Needed

Pharmacist Mate On Guadalcanal Relates How Blood Plasma Saved Many Lives

MORE DONORS NEEDED HERE

Pharmacist Mate William M. Fehl, of Boyle's Avenue, who saw five months of service in the Hell of Guadalcanal, related today how badly blood plasma is needed by our troops, as they fight the Germans and Japs on widely scattered fronts.

Fehl was in the first of the fighting on Guadalcanal, and helped take care of hundreds of wounded Marines. During his five-month stay on the island, he alone administered probably as much of this life-saving plasma as will be contributed during the stay of the American Red Cross blood bank in Lawrence County on its second visit here, starting February 28.

It was miraculous the way wounded men shipped out of the state of shock they were in after being wounded when this precious blood plasma was administered, Fehl related today. In most cases, the plasma was given at dressing stations behind the lines, but on many occasions, when a man was in severe state of shock, it was given to him where he fell.

Taking the wounded men out of the tangled undergrowth of those Solomon Islands jungles up over steep trails, and through swamps was an ordeal which saved Fehl's health, and he was finally discharged. But during those five months of unspeakable conditions on the island, he helped save the lives of hundreds of brave Marines, whose bodies stopped Jap snipers' bullets, or were mangled by mortar shell or grenade, by administering this life-saving fluid.

Blood plasma is needed more than ever. American Red Cross officials stated today, and Lawrence County folks, who have been mailed cards as prospective donors, are urged to sign up at once, to contribute a pint of their blood to those fighting men who so sorely need it.

New registrants are asked to register at the Red Cross Chapter House, 318 N. Beaver street, or at the Red Cross Station, first floor Penn State Co. building. Those to whom cards were sent, are asked to return them at once, giving the day and time most convenient for them to visit the blood bank when it returns here.

a close and observers estimated 30,000 to 40,000 enemy soldiers have been killed in the past week.

The army newspaper Red Star, reporting that most of the enemy's large gliders in the encircled area have been captured, declared that "the annihilation of the surrounded Germans is coming to an end."

"The Nazi-controlled Paris radio reported that the White Russian stronghold Vitebsk 'has been singled out in the past 24 hours for the heaviest Russian attack of the entire eastern front.' This was not confirmed in the Soviet communiqué.

The capture of Sheptovka, 50 miles southeast of Rovno, deprived the Nazis of the principal south Russian junction used for the past two years to shuttle reserves from one front to another. It also cut off the rail lines leading into Rumania, Hungary and Poland.

Base Toppled

The base was toppled in a new drive by the First Russian Ukrainian Army that stabbed to within 60 miles of the Bug River and threatened the Odessa-Lwow railroad last escape corridor for the Germans in the Dnieper Bend.

The junction fell to the Russians in a flanking assault after a bitter Nazi defense in which the enemy used as many as 120 tanks in each counter-attack.

German counter-blows near Chernikass, launched desperate effort to pierce the Russian steel ring and save off a second Stalingrad in the Kaney pocket, were costly failures. The Soviet high command said, "The Nazi tanks were knocked out during the day, and 25 big German transport planes were shot down 'attempting to supply the besieged enemy divisions.'"

On the northern front, other Russian columns bore down on Luga, last major enemy base controlling the escape corridor from the rapidly advancing German salient south of Leningrad. Several additional towns and villages near Luga were seized during the day as the Red army closed to less than nine miles of the base.

eastern front. Fresh equipment, including new artillery, and thousands of sea and land mines are being moved into the area where landing thrusts are expected.

German forces in the coastal areas, reported to total from 40 to 45 divisions, are being brought up to full strength. The most important tactical maneuvers that are expected to be used in the defense are being subjected to review and analysis.

According to recent information, the defensive scheme for Germany ground forces in western Europe is divided into two distinct departments. The first is composed of local coastal forces, permanently attached to predetermined areas and fortifications, and the second an army of maneuver, divided into a number of groups and based in localities at considerable distance from the seacoast.

Meet Initial Thrust

The first, or coastal force, is designed to meet the initial thrust of an allied amphibious army. It will have the assistance of powerful steel and concrete fortifications in which guns reported to range up to 15 inches in calibre are emplaced. It will be sheltered behind wire entanglements, constructed on all beaches by an elaborate system of sea and land mines.

Purpose of the German army of maneuver in the offensive scheme, is to await the arrival of a major American-British blow, then deal it a counter-stroke, on the pattern of actions at Salerno and Anzio. For this purpose it is equipped with all the latest armaments estimated by allied authorities as consisting of about six excellent armored divisions, also strong forces of motorized infantry and truck-drawn artillery, mostly of the howitzer type.

According to neutral sources, the Germans boast that their seacoast fortifications are armed with a total of nearly 2,000 field guns and more than 3,000 anti-tank guns, besides many pieces of heavy artillery.

Anti-Subsidy Bill Veto Is Expected

Report President Preparing To Veto Measure Being Passed In Congress

By WILLIAM S. NEAL, U.S.S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—President Roosevelt was reported by congressional advisers today to be readying himself for an emphatic veto of the Anti-Subsidy bill with a fresh declaration of his determination to "hold the line" on his stabilization policy.

Both branches of congress were recorded in opposition to the consumer subsidy program which price administration officials regard as the keystone of the whole anti-inflation program.

The senate last night passed a Commodity Credit Corporation extension bill with the Bankhead amendment to end roll-back subsidies June 30. The vote was 43 to 28.

Back To House

The bill goes back to the house, which originally passed it with direction to wind up subsidies within 60 days. House anti-subsidy leaders indicated they would move to accept the senate amendments and send the bill to the White House for a certain veto.

Democratic Senate Leader Barkley expressed belief that a veto can be upheld either in the senate or the house.

Since farm leaders favor continuation of the Commodity Credit Corporation with the provision of the bill giving it $250 million dollars in additional funds, it is expected that efforts will be made to continue it without the anti-subsidy rider.

The administration reportedly is able to obtain funds from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to carry on the roll-back on meat and butter prices, together with the milk and other subsidies, without an appropriation.

NEW ATTACKS ON JAP HELD ATOLLS IN THE MARSHALS

land, but the communiqué said all our planes returned safely.

Targets of the naval bombardment and aerial assault were not identified in keeping with the Pacific high command's policy of withholding from Tokyo developments in its crumbling Marshalls stronghold.

It was significant, however, that the communiqué said warships "bombed an important enemy-held atoll. Such bombardments preceded landings on Kwajalein, Eniwetok, and other islands, and troops of the army's Seventh Division who occupied the key atoll after an eight-day battle that cost the Japs more than 8,000 killed.

Jap Garrisons Trapped

Besides Eniwetok, at the north-west tip of the Marshalls and less than 700 miles from the big Jap naval base at Truk, other important atolls still in enemy hands are Wotho, Malep, and Jaluit, comprising the island chain's eastern flank.

Jap garrisons totalling 10,000 troops are trapped in these atolls, cut off from air or sea escape, and the bases they hold are likely targets for shelling and eventual landing assaults.

The February 10th aerial raids, carried out by Liberator and Mitchell bombers and dauntless dive bombers with Warhawk fighter escort in the continued campaign that has paralyzed enemy airstrips throughout the Marshalls.

Effectiveness of the campaign was indicated by the fact that no fighting was encountered in the three days of these raids. The Liberators dropped 72 tons of bombs in target areas, the Mitchells 13 tons and the dive bombers and fighters more than 15 tons.

after yesterday's blizzard. Temperatures dropped and a low point of 12 degrees was predicted by tomorrow.

A sheet of ice covered Washington, where highway traffic was snarled and plane travel completely paralyzed during the winter onslaught, which sent the mercury down to 23 degrees during the night.

Train schedules were disrupted in the New England states, "digging out" today after the storm, lashed by a 35-mile an hour wind, caused one death.

A gradual return to normal travel conditions was expected over most of the Midwest during the day after yesterday's Arctic blitz left plane travel at a complete standstill and delayed rail and bus traffic.

Snow flurries continued in Ohio, where highways were open but made dangerous by temperatures ranging from 22 degrees above zero downward to 4 above.

Young Republicans Gather

Young Republicans of Illinois staged their 12th annual pilgrimage to the tomb. State President Nicholas Berkos of Chicago placed a wreath on the sarcophagus.

Vice President Wallace will arrive in Springfield late today and with his party will visit the tomb about 4 o'clock. Col. C. J. Otten and Lt. Col. R. M. McKerchar will place a wreath in behalf of President Roosevelt.

At 6 o'clock the vice president will be the honored guest at a dinner at the executive mansion given by Gov. and Mrs. Dwight Green.

At the evening program, Mr. Wallace will speak on the subject "Men and Dollars."

The Abraham Lincoln Association will hold its annual meeting late today with D. Graham Hutton of London, England, speaking on the British concept of Lincoln. Hutton now is with the British information service at Chicago.

down and seven others "probably" destroyed. Only two Allied planes failed to return, although others were damaged.

Four-motored bombers, flying with fighter escort carried out a 200-ton raid on the Rabaul airdrome and supply areas at Wewak, in northern New Guinea. The Allied formations encountered no interception, but low clouds prevented observation of results.

Other heavy bombers blasted Jap bivouacs and supply areas at Modulu plantation and Biagat which reported to be being evacuated by the enemy. In all, 60 tons of bombs were dropped.

Find 1200 Japs Dead

Evacuation of Madang, if true, would be due mostly to success of the American and Australian campaign which cleared the Huon peninsula.

More than 1,200 of the nearly 14,000 Jap troops killed were found strewn along trails to Sador, taken by the Yanks in a surprise amphibious assault. The deaths of many of these attested to effectiveness of the Allied blockade, as well as grimness of the fight.

"Death came from starvation, disease, privation or injury, showing the utter collapse which at the end overwhelmed the trapped enemy forces," said MacArthur's communiqué.

Aussie units, after joining forces with the Americans in their advance from Sador, continued to advance under artillery support against a pocket of Japs who fled inland toward the 16,000-foot-high Finisterre range.

total sales to date are but $1239-354.50 which is only 59 per cent. This is as poor as the grand total is good. The reason the entire quota is over-subscribed is because the corporations of the county have done more than their allotted share.

Closes February 15

The Fourth War Loan campaign closes February 15, although "E" bonds advanced up to February 29th will be included. Corporate purchases will not. There is still time for the individual citizens of Lawrence County to meet the record of the corporation by subscribing the full quota of $2,088,500 worth of "E" bonds.

House to house sales reported today at noon show a total of $261,874.75. In some ways the women of the Auxiliary have done a magnificent job. In others there is still plenty to do. The breakdown of the sales follows:

First Ward $29,087.50. Second Ward $123,251.25. Third Ward $56,370. Fourth Ward $17,068.75. Fifth Ward $1,016.75. Sixth Ward $6,631.25. Seventh Ward $6,192.75 and Eighth Ward $22,268.50.

Banks, theatres, business houses, the postoffice all of them have "E" bonds for sale. They can be purchased during the hours the places mentioned are open.

toward Europe during the evening. The night attacks came in the wake of devastating daylight blows at Frankfurt and the Pas De Calais area of France by Fortresses and Liberators escorted by the greatest number of American fighters ever sent from Britain.

One night-flying armada, so large it took 30 minutes to pass, crossed the southeast coast of England while another soared over the east coast, observers reported. Soon after, flares were seen dropping near Boulogne, indicating the night raiders extended the pre-invasion pounding of the "rocket gun coast" into another night.

The attack on Frankfurt, the second Fortress blow at that vital German war manufacturing city within four days, was carried out by a mighty fleet of B-17s escorted by a record number of Thunderbolts, Lightning and Mustang fighters.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PARENTS SOLVE PROBLEMS

Since most letters I must read concern problems and failures, I got an uplift from reading of the following successes and thought you might, too.

"Shirley, 5, had her tonsils out last Saturday. She went to the hospital in good spirits. It was a big adventure for her. And she was prepared to have the gas mask put on her and for a sore throat afterwards. Everything we had told her would happen she accepted without a murmur. I do believe children should be prepared beforehand by knowing just what is going to happen—then there seems to be no worry. Shirley's a brave little thing regardless of how bitter medicine might be or how much pain she might have, if we tell her how bad it will be, she takes it without flinching." Of course, such information must have been given in a calm, matter-of-fact way, by parents who had won the child's faith in many other ways.

"I received an answer to my problem from you in June concerning my son Jerry, whom I wrote to you about lying and stealing. I can't thank you enough for your advice and counsel as since I set out to carry out your advice absolutely I have now no trouble. My husband is trying to cooperate.

"I never realized that leaving money around would cause a great temptation. This has always been our habit, but I can see now how the poor kid was tempted. Since you advised me to show more love and attention to Jerry, when he did something wrong I tried a deeper understanding and showed him with loving words and caresses that I loved him and that I would help him do better. Mr. Myers, it has been a great relief to me and he is losing gradually his nervousness and is doing much better in school than ever before.

Helped Friend's Son
"I have kept your letter and I read it when I become impatient and I have shown it to a friend who had the same trouble with her son. It hurt her to think she had unintentionally showed more love to one child than the other. But she tells me he is also growing out of his jealousy and stealing. His son, as my son has, through all the months of vacation I did not have a bit of trouble with Jerry and I feel now he is trustworthy anywhere."

My special bulletin, "Jealousy" and "Honesty and Truthfulness" may both be had for postage by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with six cents in stamps on it.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. My son 10 years old can spell all his words if I pronounce them in the order in which they appear on his list, but not if in a different order.
A. Have him study each word clearly printed or written on a separate card going over and over each word until it is learned.

What Noted People Say

WASHINGTON — Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio: "I am more interested in winning the coming election for the Republican party and in defeating the New Deal philosophy of government than I am in being president of the United States."

BAKER, Oregon — Wendell Willkie: "I am going to be nominated for the presidency on the Republican ticket."

WASHINGTON — Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the Maritime Commission: "If congress will pass a national service act, there will be little need to enforce it by law. Our people will enforce it voluntarily."

LINCOLN

God sent him to a cabin first to learn
That toil will ever be man's chief concern.
To do with toilers and to share the tears.
The hopes and all the sorrows of the years.
God gave him humble parents, as he gave
His only Son, who came men's souls to save.
Tried him with hazards from his earliest youth:
Filled him with furious longing for the truth.
Made learning difficult. To prove desire.
Left him to read by candle light and fire;
Forced him to walk long miles a book to gain.
Tested his will with weariness and pain.
Tall and uneasy, with no gift of grace
God set the light of glory in his face.
God gave him splendor which the spirit wears
And shines through heartaches and outlives its cares.
And when at last went Lincoln to his Lord
The love of humble folk was his reward.

Lawyers keep us still in our ideas as well as in our souls and traditions. More crows feet around the eyes and parentheses at the mouth corners result from moribundness due to idleness than to fatigue due to productive work. And then, too, everyone should do some kind of work today. There is no excuse for idleness with so much waiting to be done to further the war effort. Those who do not have to work for a living and those who cannot stand the rigors of a 40 or 48-hour week should spend a certain part of their leisure engaged in some phase of the many volunteer services. Essential work is very stimulating and invigorating. Those who are engaged in it are healthier and happier than the idlers and resters.

Question: Would it be correct for me to wear a formal bridal gown with a small train and my future husband wear his uniform? He is a private in the army. How about the best man and usher? May they be civilians or must they also be in uniform?—G. G.

Answer: You may, indeed, wear formal bridal attire including a train. The ushers and best man may be in uniform or in civilian clothes. Men in the army and the navy are required to wear their uniforms and if their friends are not in the service they may be members of their wedding parties nevertheless.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

We are often called by foreigners a nation of "headline hunters." We deserve that name.

Most of us look for the spectacular, the obvious, and overlook the little things of life that mean so much.

Look for the little things and you'll be surprised how much fun you can get out of them.

For instance right here in your own newspaper which you are now reading, there are little five or ten-line items that really are more closely tied up with your own life than those big banner-like stories that are for remote to have a direct or personal meaning for you.

For instance, here in my paper is a little story of a New York judge who gets $10,000 a year and says "my salary is almost nothing to me today and confines me to the bare necessities."

Right in the next column is another item which says that the State Department of Labor has found that a worker must earn $146 a month to live decently. If she lives with her family, the amount is placed at $133 a month.

In this same issue of my paper, big headlines tell me that the Russians have taken Krasnovarsk and that 40,000 more Germans have been killed.

Unquestionably to the world and to history this Russian victory is ever so much more important than the judge's $10,000 salary or the woman worker's living wage.

But to you and to me, for today and tomorrow, which is the more interesting?

How is it that one person with $10,000 a year is reduced to the bare necessities, while another is supposed to live decently on less than one-sixth that amount?

Krasnovarsk is far, far away, and those forty-thousand Germans don't arouse a great deal of sympathy in me.

But my grocery bill, my home, my kids, my happiness interest me a whole lot.

That may be a selfish attitude, but that's the way most of us are constructed.

Oh, if all of us were statesmen or business giants or professors of history, we might not take much interest in what happens to John Doe or Minnie Smith.

But I suspect that even statesmen have to eat, that even business giants get a stomach ache every now and then, that even high-toned college professors fight with their wives.

Don't be ashamed to enjoy the little things of life.

Let's rather have fun today than be indexed in next year's history books.

The World and the Mud Puddles

A BAS BUREAU

President Roosevelt has asked Congress to appropriate one hundred billions of dollars with which to finance the war and the ordinary agencies of the federal government for the next fiscal year. It is a staggering sum. It is beyond the ability of nine hundred ninety-nine persons out of one thousand to even comprehend this amount of money.

Ninety billions would be allocated to purely military operations. The remainder would be used for the routine financing of government and for interest on the public debt, which has reached the figure of $3,750,000,000, or more than the total annual cost of the federal government per year prior to 1917.

In fact, it is more by nearly four times, for the first federal budget of more than a billion dollars was for this year. Then came the budget of seventeen billions in 1918 and twenty-five billions in 1919. This tapered off quickly to seven billions the next year and dropped to as low as $2,951,582,000 in 1923. It held steady at around four billions until 1932 when it started moving upward and by 1936 had reached $5,433,264,000.

Now, the interest alone is $3,750,000,000 a year!

To the fullest extent that the billions requested for financing the war is required for that purpose, there should be no question of its availability. It should be forthcoming when and as it is needed. But it is the responsibility of the Congress to determine how much the President is when he forecasts the sums that will be needed to compare them with the unexpended or unallocated appropriations that already have been made. The latter it is revealed, amount to about one hundred billions of dollars.

Mr. Roosevelt said that there is a thin line between expenditures for war and for ordinary routine government operations. This thin line has had the habit of wavering considerably in the past. It is Congress' further responsibility to see that it does not waver to the point where vast sums appropriated for war do not find themselves over in the routine columns under the cause of social dispensations, brought about by wartime conditions. The next record of this administration has been tricky in the matter of fiscal forecasts.

Mr. Roosevelt has renewed his request for ten and a half billions of dollars in additional taxes, at a time when he knows the changes of his getting it are exceedingly slim. Congress has been definite on that subject and on the average individual is about as heavy as he can stand. Apologists and rubber stamps of the (Continued on Page Seven)

Lucas' Tarawa Report Proves Inspiring
Wisdom Of Revealing Horrors Is Debated
Refugees Miss Scandals Of World Spots

By HELEN ESSARY (Continued from Column 1)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—If I were going to write a play or a novel about the American boy in this second World War, I'd take for my inspiration part of the report of Lieut. Jim Lucas, combat correspondent of the U. S. Marine Corps, gave of the landing at Tarawa.

After the fighting was over, Lieut. Lucas told the Women's National Press club, we walked along the beach and looked at the bodies lying there. We did not find any dead man whose face was not turned toward, but on his objective—the defeat of the enemy. There was no man who was running away from danger. Every one of them had been every inch a hero in the fight for his country.

Superb isn't it? And doesn't it make your throat ache with pride and pain?

Lieutenant Lucas had seen the landing from a distance. "As the boys rushed out from the ships they met a hail of shots. They fell like trees. Others crumpled to their knees in the shallow water—and struggling up, were hit and fell again. Others dragged themselves along, wounded and came upon barbed wire entanglements. Caught by their clothing they were easy targets. We found them when the firing stopped."

Here was the American boy in action. The real American boy. Not a boy out of a story. But live boys. Average boys who did not know what the war was about. Most of them had volunteered to go into this engagement because they thought once it was over they could go home. And what they wanted more than anything else in life was to go home. Yet they had the will to die if they must. And as you know many of them did die.

The wisdom of the telling of such stories as that of Lieutenant Lucas (Continued on Page Seven)

Gettysburg Address

Fourteen and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men were created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract.

The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from the honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they here gave the last measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

NEVERTHELESS, public sentiment of his court-packing bill was sufficiently strong to defeat it. Public sentiment, however, could not prevent him from achieving his objective later through appointments to fill the vacancies. No informed person will contend that the President's appointments to the Court were made solely with the view of elevating men whose experience, equipment and knowledge of the law fitted them for the position. On the contrary, the evidence is overwhelming that he selected them primarily because they had his point of view and, in some cases, because of their political support.

IN ALL, he has appointed seven New Dealers to the Bench in seven years, leaving only two members of the Court who were there when he took office. Mr. Stone and Mr. Roberts. The extraordinary thing is that this New Deal majority instead of operating as a unit, has split into factions. Instead of harmony, there is friction, rivalry for leadership and some personal bitterness, all of which, when exhibited in public, is distinctly unedifying.

LAWYERS pretty generally agree that there was truth in the view expressed by Justice Roberts, and concurred in by Justice Frankfurter, that the tendency to disregard precedents of late as to shake confidence in the consistency of decisions and leave the courts below in an uncharted sea of doubt and difficulty without any confidence that what was said yesterday will hold good tomorrow. Mr. Roberts also spoke of "the predominance in which the lower courts, the bar and the public find themselves." This is a pretty serious charge, but it comes from two justices of the Court itself, and extremely few lawyers will regard it as unjustified.

NOT IN the memory of anyone now living has a more seething thing been said about our highest court. Nor can anyone recall a time when there was more public bickering among its members. It is an unpleasant spectacle to contemplate the Court, which the lower courts, the bar and the public find themselves. This is a pretty serious charge, but it comes from two justices of the Court itself, and extremely few lawyers will regard it as unjustified.

Bible Thought

When the righteous are in authority, the people rejoice, but when the wicked bear rule, the people mourn. Proverbs, 29:2

Words Of Wisdom

He that studieth revenge keeps his own wounds green, which otherwise would heal and do well.—Racon.

SHALL NOT PERISH . . .

IN PERIODS of acute crisis every nation looks back to its great men, be they soldiers or statesmen, poets or patron saints, and longs for their counsel, their inspiration. Sometimes in imagination these men appear in a sort of reincarnation, promising help, for the legend of an earthly return is imperishable.

So on the anniversary of his birth the minds of Americans turn naturally to Abraham Lincoln, who above all others typifies the ideals of the republic. Lincoln, the man of the people, brooded over the sufferings of a race and the cleavage that rent a nation into two warring camps. If he were alive, he would brood over the sufferings of many races and the spectacle of a whole world divided and in arms, the sound of battle encompassing the globe.

Perhaps at midnight his gaunt form may be seen atop some hill, his great compassion in conflict with his indignation at the brutalities of the apostles of force, praying for physical victory over the powers of darkness that the spiritual victory of justice and mercy eventually may be won.

Yes, Lincoln means more to America today than ever before—the man and the legend together, the things he did and the things he stood for. And not for themselves alone, but for all civilized men and women in the world, Americans are working and fighting that "government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

A stark picture of fighting to be expected when General Eisenhower gives the signal for invasion of Western Europe is being painted on a small beachhead 20 miles south of Rome. Despite the advantage of a landing in great force with virtually no opposition, despite the great numbers of men and huge quantities of war equipment that were unloaded before the Germans recovered from their surprise and began to offer resistance, some of the most savage and bloody fighting of the war is taking place there.

Forced back into a beachhead of less than 100 square miles, a mighty Allied army is battling to the death, every acre of the terrain it holds under massed German artillery fire, its back to the sea. Lacking space in which to maneuver, the Allied forces are fighting under a horrible handicap.

The initial advantage that fell to this army because of the element of surprise will be lacking when France—if that is where the blow will fall—is invaded. It is extremely unlikely that the Nazis will be caught napping a second time. The necessity of forcing a landing and extending a beachhead with the enemy throwing everything it can assemble at the invaders will add immeasurably to the task.

Bad weather which is reported to have interfered with Allied air activity was an aid to the Nazis in the fighting below Rome. Allied planes, which did such effective work during the landing operations, were grounded for several days and it was during this period that stiff enemy resistance developed.

There is, moreover, no assurance that bad weather may not interfere with air operations during the opening of a second front. The idea that, with luck, a second front can be opened without heavy casualties has disappeared as the fighting below Rome has grown in crescendo. Never were so many men and so much military equipment thrown into a single battle as will be needed to start an overland drive on Berlin from the west.

RULING OUT CHANCE

It is impossible not to be gratified at the surprising lightness of American casualties in the conquest of Kwajalein Atoll, principal Japanese base in the Marshall Islands. According to the figures of Admiral Nimitz, the Americans killed more than 8,000 Japanese at a loss of fewer than 300 American dead, an amazing ratio of more than 28 to 1.

The casualty figures at Kwajalein are all the more significant when they are compared with those at Tarawa, where American Marines killed 4,000 Japanese but lost more than 1,000 in dead alone.

The answer clearly lies in the degree of the preliminary bombardment. At Tarawa, ships and planes subjected Japanese installations to heavy pounding, but it proved to be not heavy enough. The Japanese had plenty of resistance left when the Marines stormed ashore.

But at Kwajalein, a place the Japanese have had 25 years to fortify, the defenders never had a chance. They were hit by a tremendous weight of explosives from planes, ships and field artillery landed on small atolls nearby. Not only did the bombardment smash most of the permanent installations on Kwajalein, killing or burying many of the garrison, but it so crazed hundreds of the surviving Japanese that they killed themselves rather than endure any more.

When the American troops went ashore, there was little left for them to do but mop up. A high-ranking British naval observer, veteran of the African and Sicilian campaigns, said he had never seen anything like that air and sea barrage.

The difference between the assault on Tarawa and that on Kwajalein attests to the ability of the American high command to profit by experience. The attack on Tarawa was well planned but without sufficient knowledge of the situation. The attack on Kwajalein incorporated everything learned in previous invasions. It left virtually nothing to chance. There is satisfaction in the belief that future operations will have the benefit of the same kind of planning—and the same kind of fighting.

3617 YEARS

What is it that enables a company to grow great . . . to remain strong? Is it the possession of patents or protected processes? Is it equipment . . . machinery . . . manufacturing ideas? Is it superior management . . . sufficient funds?

It is all of these plus—the loyalty of the workers.

Without good, reliable, honest and trustworthy employees no company can succeed. Long and faithful service to one organization is a compliment both to the individual who serves and to the organization served. Johnson Bronze is indeed fortunate in this respect. Listed below are the individuals with service records of ten or more years. We believe this is an achievement worthy of public recognition and appreciation. Added up it means more than 3,617 years of service. It definitely proves that Johnson Bronze is a "Good Industry for New Castle . . . A Good Place to Work".

INSIDE WASHINGTON

is being discussed around the country. Especially does Washington, which goes in for discussions in an endless way, wonder if it is wise to reveal the horror of such engagements.

It is the opinion of the administration that both stories and photographs of horror should not be given the public.

I myself wonder if such sensational reports make the country properly aware of the progress of the war in the way that is most useful. What the country needs to know is an honest record of our victories and defeats plus a statement of the objectives yet to be won.

It will not be necessary to reveal any war secrets in such a record. But it is vital to the success of the war that the people be told how many months of weary fighting are still ahead, how little we have accomplished in the Pacific and what the real score is.

"We haven't yet begun to fight," the military men say. "Wait until we do. Wait."

Evidently the military experts whose job it is to train young fighters believe that part of their job is to train young fighters believe that part of their job is finished. The war department has told 70 small colleges that they will no longer be needed for the training of pilots. Other colleges are finding themselves deserted as American boys are withdrawn for service abroad or further training at new government fields.

Many colleges are terribly worried as the war department program to move the young fighters away unfolds slowly but definitely. The training of fighters, though certainly a program unrelated to the old liberal arts education most colleges gave before the war, at least kept the colleges alive.

Now the prospect for many of the smaller and weaker colleges is sudden death. The big colleges, financed by heavy endowments and influential alumni, will manage to struggle along. But the little colleges that were scraping the bottom of the money barrel in good times probably will fade out completely as the war drags on.

I heard a flippant discussion at dinner last night. The subject of the discussion was this: "Why are there so few scandals in Washington, this great, big, roaring world capital?"

"You almost never hear of a grand or petite romance here," said a French woman. "I do not understand how it can be so. In Paris, London, Rome, before the war and no doubt since there were so many amusing intrigues. One kept oneself gay just by hearing about them. Cabinet ministers had little affairs that were not of state. So did some charming ladies of the upper class. But here—ah, the place is so terribly white while it is even a little dull, do you not think so?"

I have no good answer to this profound question, perhaps people in Washington are too occupied winning the war to stray about a bit here and there. Perhaps the population is too heavy with Public Citizens of Great Importance. Such gentlemen are always a slightly wary lot.

administration declare that the congressional opposition to higher taxes is illogical because, on the one hand it seeks to stabilize them, and on the other it refuses to support food subsidies and, by that refusal, indicates a willingness to see prices go higher. The point is lost because the question of whether subsidies will appreciably hold over or lower food prices is merely a matter of opinion with the "yes" leaders holding the affirmative.

If that sort of rationalizing is to be used, however, the administration defeats its own argument for higher taxes by its policy on wages. It says that the people can stand in additional levy of ten and a half billions of dollars and yet, in every major case that has been referred to the President by the House, the President has refused to raise wages on the ground that those who ask raises are not receiving enough money to live on without them. Of course, there is a great deal to be said about "hold the line" and the "little steel formula", and there are all sorts of hocus pocus about basic rates and vacation pay, and other technical evasions of the issue. However, the fact remains that the formula has been smashed, and raises have been granted by the President after his stabilization director has warned that even a lesser sum would lead to inflation.

There is one tendency indicated in the budget requests that Mr. Roosevelt has displayed throughout his administration. That is the inclination that he regards the appropriation of a sum of money as the final achievement of an objective. In reality, it is but the beginning of the march toward an objective, whatever it is. In this case it is victory over the Axis. There is no indication that this victory will be denied us. There is nothing to indicate that Congress will withhold a single dollar needed for that purpose. But it is quite possible that Congress will carefully analyze the proposed expenditures and make certain that whatever addition to the deficit it approves will be to save our nation on the battlefield and for no other purpose. Which is as it should be.

REPORT POPE PIUS' SUMMER HOME IS FORTIFIED BY NAZIS

ALGERIA, Feb. 12.—(INS)—Pope Pius' summer residence as Castel Gandolfo has been converted into a German stronghold and will be bombed by Allied warplanes, Allied headquarters indicated today.

An official statement said the Pontiff's summer farm now lies in the Italian battle area and contains "a heavy saturation of German forces."

"Wherever vital enemy targets appear," said the announcement, "they of necessity will be bombed."

Postwar Plans For College Program Is Under Consideration

Westminster Has Begun To Plan For Day Of Peace; Surveys Being Made

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 12.—Looking forward to postwar educational needs for American youth and returning service men, Westminster College has already begun to plan for the day of peace. A committee of nine faculty members has been appointed by Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, Westminster president, to consider and investigate possible changes in the college's present program.

Headed by Prof. C. W. McKee, chairman of the department of economics and business administration, the committee for the past month has carried on an exhaustive survey among faculty members in an attempt to evaluate the college's curriculum and foresee new developments in education.

Members are also considering such questions as whether new courses should be added to the curriculum, what fields of study need more emphasis, whether the present organization is the best for Westminster, and whether or not the school should try to increase in size.

According to Dr. Galbreath, any changes recommended by the committee will first have to be approved by the entire faculty and then submitted to the college board of trustees, before making any revisions, the college plans to hear from students similar recommendations for post-war changes.

A student post-war committee may be organized to work independently and consider the same problems from the student point of view.

To keep abreast of what other colleges are doing, the entire faculty group last month attended the annual meeting of the Association of American Colleges in Cincinnati. The program of the association sessions was built around post-war planning in higher education. In the 35 years of the association's history, no other college was so well represented at the annual meeting.

Upon his return from Cincinnati, Dr. Galbreath declared that Westminster's post-war program is well in the forefront of similar programs in other American colleges.

Membership of the Westminster committee includes Prof. C. W. McKee, chairman; Dr. Gilbert Taylor, Miss Dorothy Kirkbride, Dr. H. S. Osgood, Dr. Donald Matthews, Prof. Harold Brennan, Dean Harold Black and Dr. Robert F. Galbreath.

Willkie Blames President For Threatened Strike

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 12.—(INS)—Wendell Willkie today placed full blame for the recently threatened railroad strike squarely upon President Roosevelt, and accused the administration of "propagating disunity" in the Nation, in the midst of war.

Willkie, currently touring the country in anticipation of the presidential primaries, made the charge in a speech before the Pierce County Republican club in Tacoma.

While he does not condone calling of strikes in wartime, the 1940 Republican presidential candidate said, the President's equivocation during the recent crisis "made that action almost inevitable."

"We need a new leader," Willkie asserted. "A leader who does not hold in his mind bitter or triumphant memories of past conflicts. A leader who does not think of a nation as made up of groups of people who can be played against each other to insure his continuing power."

Charge Man With Strangling Wife In Aliquippa Home

ALIQUIPPA, Pa., Feb. 12.—(INS)—Earl Ross, 21, was held by police today on a charge of strangling his wife, Frances, 19, in a jealous rage. She was the mother of a two-year-old child.

"Lock me up," Police Chief Trevor Jenkins declared Ross said as he walked into the police station after the tragedy. "I will find my wife's body in the bedroom of our home."

Police and firemen rushed to the Ross residence with an inhalator, but were unable to revive the woman.

Chief Jenkins said also that Ross had been a patient for a nervous disorder in Pittsburgh's St. Francis hospital. He was reported to have quit his job as a Jones & Laughlin steel worker two weeks ago. He is the son of Harry Ross, former Aliquippa policeman. He is charged with murder.

Wife Of Inductee Leaps To Death

DICKSON CITY, Pa., Feb. 12.—(INS)—The 27-year-old wife of a Navy inductee plunged 35 feet to her death today from a porch on her home in Dickson city.

Coroner Paul E. Kubasko said the victim, Mrs. Philip Kopeck, was dependent over the scheduled induction of her husband into the armed forces. Neighbors told Kubasko and police that the woman acted strangely and mumbled about "my husband" and "the draft board."

Kopeck employed at Kearny, N. Y., was accepted for Navy service earlier this week and scheduled for induction next week.

Rowland Announces For Delegate Post

Lawrence County Republican Chairman A Candidate For Convention Delegate

ROGER W. ROWLAND

Roger W. Rowland, of New Castle, chairman of the Lawrence County Committee of Lawrence County, today announced himself as a candidate to be a delegate from the 26th congressional district to the Republican national convention in Chicago in June. The 26th district, composed of Butler, Beaver and Lawrence counties, will elect two delegates to the convention, Captain Rowland's announcement follows.

The national convention of the Republican party this year is the most important one ever held in the history of the party. Upon the decision of the delegates will rest the responsibility of naming a candidate for president who will have the strength of character and executive ability to lead the United States out of the wilderness of the New Deal.

"If the American way of life is to continue, if Americans are to return to the kind of life envisioned by the founding fathers, if this nation is ever to escape from the morass of debt and the quicksands of New Deal government, now is the time."

Mature Deliberation
"Because the need for mature deliberation in the selection of a candidate is so vital I believe no delegate should go to the convention instructed for any one candidate. Instead he should go with an open mind, prepared to lend his weight to whatever candidate appears to be the logical man for the honor. And instructed delegate is a stultified delegate."

"We of the Republican party are Americans first. The first consideration of the forthcoming administration must be 'Win the War.' Americans will be satisfied with nothing short of total victory but in the winning of the victory which is inevitable, there should be serious concern over the manner in which the government is conducted. A victory at the expense of the material possessions and national birth rights and heritages of the people would indeed be a Pyrrhic victory."

"I am a candidate for one of the two delegate posts allotted our 26th congressional district. While the position carries with it no monetary compensation, it does carry a responsibility for clear thinking, for mature deliberation, and a part in naming the standard bearer of the Republican party in the 1944 general election. I ask the support of the Republican voters of Lawrence County."

In announcing the assignment the commissioner admitted that "no progress has been made in the investigation as yet."

Coroner A. L. Broder announced that a new theory, blackmail, is being considered. He refused to amplify this statement.

Check For $8,807 For Ellwood City On Sewer Project

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—A check drawn on the U. S. Treasury for $8,807.50 has been approved by FWA Regional Director John M. - (2) An all-American system of air travel using air bases connected by this country all over the globe;
- (3) Use of the Merchant Marine to carry one-third to one-half of the nation's foreign trade;
- (4) Use of an equitable share of the world's petroleum resources for the nation's wartime oil and gas contributions to the Allied nations.

Report Bolivia Reaffirms Ties To United Nations

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 12.—(INS)—The Bolivian government today reportedly expropriated the holdings of all Axis firms and froze their funds as the climax of a day which, according to dispatches from La Paz, saw the president reaffirm the nation's ties with the United Nations.

Bolivia is faithful to the Atlantic charter side by side with the United Nations, President Gualberto Villaroel was quoted as saying as he denied reports that a counter-revolution has swept the country.

The reported action against Axis firms was interpreted as a further bid for recognition from Allied regimes and was emphasized by the installation of three new cabinet members to replace men suspected by some sources of having pro-Axis leanings.

In England, precious pots and pans for factory canteens have been scavenged from ruins in bombed coastal towns.

Further Quakes In Argentina

VALENTINES FOR THE AXIS, NOT WITH LOVE AND KISSES

In all theatres of war today, the armed forces of the United States are delivering valentines to the Axis. Not valentines of lacy paper and sugary phrases, but valentines of steel and high explosive and like the lacy creations swains send to their sweeties, these valentines carry the sentiments of the people of this nation. Those valentines are being delivered to our armed forces by motor trucks. Day and night the trucks are rolling, hauling the tools of war up to the lads who use them.

Over here the trucks are rolling too, hauling your milk and newspapers, drugs and groceries, shoes and hoop steel. Delivering them on time because the men back of the trucking industry, the owners, the drivers, the dispatchers and the dockmen are on the job every day and night.

Send your Valentine in the form of a bond. It isn't too late to get in on the Fourth War Loan.

Landon Calls For Defeat Of Fourth Term Movement

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 12.—(INS)—Charging the New Deal with attempting to destroy the Democratic party, Alfred M. Landon today called upon "honest" Democrats either to "defeat life-term candidate Roosevelt for renomination" or to elect a Republican president in 1944.

The onetime GOP president candidate assailed the administration for advocating "a national socialistic state" and allegedly playing politics that have prolonged the war.

Leveling his accusations before the Young Republican Club at Knoxville, Landon said the election of a GOP president this year would be the salvation of both parties. Landon cited as examples of the charge that the administration's "palace guard" sought to "undermine the Democratic party the following:

1. President Roosevelt's work in Nebraska, Wisconsin and Minnesota... with independent groups instead of the regular party" with the result that "there is no Democratic party worthy of the name in those states."

2. The president's work in Illinois "with the Kelly machine which, of course, did not want a strong Democratic party down state" and his work in New Jersey with Boss Hague "who did not want a strong Democratic party" which might challenge his Jersey City machine.

3. The infamous purge attempt in 1938.

The "elevating and inspiring original New Deal," the former governor continued, has degenerated "into the fascist, bureaucratic later version."

The New Deal is distinguished from Nazism only in that it has not resorted to brutality, Landon charged, adding:

"Fascism is here in America and its name is the New Deal."

Outlining a suggested Republican program after "Roosevelt and his horde of carpet-bagging bureaucrats are swept out of office," Landon urged:

Reduced controls "to a level of common sense" and maintenance of "a delicate balance between the guarantees of individual freedom and the grant of governmental powers equal to social well-being; re-fashioning of the nation to a point where the little man has an opportunity" and planned taxation "from the point of view of encouraging individual enterprise as well as bring the wealth."

The informants declared, Allied strategy is designed to stretch the enemy closer to the breaking point.

Reinforce Beachhead

The spokesmen said the beachhead was being steadily reinforced. The Germans reportedly have 24 divisions in Italy all told. A large portion of these troops has been thrown into the fighting in the south. Rain, snow and sleet swirled over the embattled 15-mile-long strip of western Italy today, forcing a temporarily lull in the fighting and grounding both Allied and Axis warplanes. The raging storms, which were accompanied by high winds, failed however to deter Allied naval vessels from streaming to the aid of the hard-fighting land forces. From positions off-shore, maintained through seething swells, the cruisers and destroyers hurled volleys after volleys of explosives and steel into the Nazi positions.

British troops eked out a small advance in one sector of the bridgehead, while along the remainder of the Anzio-Netuno sector the Allies hurled back enemy assaults which were concentrated especially in the region southwest of Cisterna. Other Nazi counterattacks were stopped in their tracks in the Garigliano river sector, mostly about three miles northeast of Castelforte.

Some Progress

"Some" progress was made by American troops in the struggle for the key Gustav line bastion of Cassino as the grueling house-to-house battle for possession of that city raged into its ninth straight day. American infantry support by strong artillery batteries was reported knocking out German strongpoints in the northern half of Cassino one after the other.

Nazi defenders were reported in frontline dispatches to have been cleared from their firing posts in the basement of the now-flattened jail, the entire area surrounding which now is in American hands. It was in the neighborhood of the factory center of Caroceto that the British defending the beachhead achieved an inch in limited gains during hand-to-hand fighting in blinding rain and snow storms.

Hinder Unloading These storms also hindered the work of unloading supplies and reinforcements to the Allied forces in that region, headquarters acknowledged in a communique describing the fighting. The same official statement announced that 17,000 prisoners have been taken by the Allies since the invasion of the Italian mainland last September, including 3,000 seized during the last week.

On the Anzio front, observers returning to Fifth Army headquarters confirmed President Roosevelt's assessment of the situation as "tense," according to a Reuters dispatch filed at midnight Friday. "The whole area," said the dispatch, "is a military objective. The Germans are simply pouring shells across day and night, without moments of let-up."

Two British cruisers, the 5,450-ton Dido and the 8,000-ton Mauritius and two unidentified destroyers took part in the naval bombardment along the left flank of the beachhead. Rain squalls and swells proved especially troublesome to the vessels, which remained in their off-shore positions despite the stormy weather.

Hail Allied Thrusts Eating through gales and hailstorms and across fields turned into quagmires of mud, Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's troops were reported to have advanced at two points after a furious barrage from more than 100 massed Allied guns.

Aimed at recapturing vital high ground and securing positions along the road to the sea, the Allied counter-attack climaxed two days of bitter, see-saw fighting near Caroceto at the northern end of the 15-mile Allied beachfront.

Although the Allies' positions south of Rome remained critical, observers hailed the British counter-thrusts as an indication that despite constant reinforcing of German units, the Nazi attempt to push the Fifth Army into the sea has been checked, at least temporarily.

West of the Appian Way stronghold of Cisterna, American troops scored "a slight advance" with counter-attack during the stormy night, dispatches said. Some 45 miles to the south, the "little Stalingrad" battle of Cassino raged unabated, with American tanks and grenade-hurling troops blasting the Nazis out of a few more strongly fortified houses, two "strong" Nazi counter-attacks in the mountains west and north of Cassino were hurled back.

AMBRIDGE NIPS ELLWOOD, 44-43

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Feb. 12.—Stout-hearted Ellwood City high nearly ruined Ambridge's Section 3 title hopes here last night, dropping a 44-43 decision in one of the most exciting skirmishes witnessed here this season.

The rivals, who played a 39-38 extra period set in Ellwood recently, staged a similar nip and tuck affair which wasn't decided until the final gun popped.

Tuesday night, New Brighton journeys to Ellwood City.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Referring to pool—this city has had some mighty good players, according to an Old Timer who yesterday said that one of the nearest touzies he witnessed was in which Pedro Boston, at that time one of the best in his line, was defeated 75 to 48. The chap who turned the trick, according to the Old Timer, was known then and called "Smitty" but whose right name is Vic Poplar. In the tournament were Sam Marquis, Sam Crile or Quehl, Dixon and other well known manipulators of a cue. Later came Doc Wheeler, Tracy Price, Lee Loughlin and Tommy Leach, the latter having paraded for a time as a "Masked Marvel."

Years ago that was a popular song team here known as the Do-Did-Do boys, namely, Frankie DeLillo and Bill Chill. Frankie later nipped to Baltimore and Bill located in Youngstown. Now and then they return. Today Frankie is here because of the illness of his mother. However, he found time to tell a few puerile words, one statement being to the effect that Joe Baksi would beat Tamt Mauriello in Madison Square Garden, February 25.

Frankie has watched Joe fight and he claims the hard coal miner is plenty tough. He also witnessed Hatcher Man Sheppard defeat Dan Morris in Baltimore recently.

Incidentally he said that Benny Franklin, Top Tipman and some of the other fistic knights of yesteryear are doing all right in Baltimore. Messrs Goldberg and Fisher are running the punch show.

"This fellow Jack Dempsey is a great fellow and what a speaker," He and Benny Leonard came to Baltimore on a bond drive. Dempsey surely knows his stuff," said Frankie. He also took in the sight of Sgt. Joe Louis refereeing in Baltimore recently.

Many of the boxers who appeared in The Arena as amateurs are now featured in pro fights. Tommy Bell and Ernie Pelai, who fought here, will show their stuff in an eight-round Monday night in Pittsburgh. Frankie Moran, now in the army, won two of three fights from Bell. Russell Baxter, also in the army and fortunate to be stationed near New York and permitted to ply his vocation, won another fight this week. His appearance recently in Madison Square Garden will prove the lever that will result in many bookings for the New Castle boy.

Moran hasn't had a chance to do any fighting since he went to Camp Blounting and was transferred to a Tennessee camp later. There's a good punch session coming to The Arena February 25.

Sports Ramblings

Out of the sports kettledrum:—

In tonight's Westminster-Akron battle, the Titans and not the Ohioans, whose record is better, are favored to win, according to Dick Dunkel's forecast. The blue and white is handed a 41 point edge . . . Westminster's last three opponents, by the way, each tallied 54 markers! . . . Lieut. Up to last night, John Kresovich, classy Bessemer high forward, had scored 185 points on 73 fielders and 39 out of 65 fouls to top the red and black clad quint . . . "Cy" Morgan, former Mahoningtown school athletic big-wig, has received his degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Education at Pitt. Morgan's thesis on physical fitness has won district fame . . .

Outfielder Joe Vosmik, ex-Cleveland-Red Sox star and currently the property of Minneapolis, will remain on his war job . . . There are quite a number of major league moguls who believe that the big leagues will have tough sailing after July 4. The magnates believe that by that time draft boards will have called most of the married men, thus bringing about the tightest player shortage since Pearl Harbor . . .

In finally has happened! Lower Merion high, Pennsylvania's defending champ, suffered its first loss of the season and third in 73 contests recently, losing to Allentown, 45-39. Tony Canadeo, Green Bay football star, was discharged from the Navy. He immediately enlisted in the Army! . . . Extra Heavy Escort Given U. S. Bombers

By JOSEPH WILLICOMBE, JR.
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

AN AMERICAN FLYING Fortress station somewhere in Britain, Feb. 12.—The Fortresses which blasted Frankfurt again Friday were supported by an extra heavy fighter escort, including Thunderbolts, Lightnings and Mustangs.

German fighters, apparently weakened after yesterday's gigantic battles over Brunswick, offered little resistance. Those which did appear made only a few passes and inflicted little damage. For the most part they stayed out of range of the bombers and their escorts.

Although visibility was bad over the target, crew members returning to another Fortress base said, American airmen were able to look back at Frankfurt and see that the bombing was successful. This group said that fighter resistance was moderate and the anti-aircraft fire variable. The supporting fighters, according to Lieut. Eldridge Greer, of Houston, Tex., outdid themselves.

Crew members reported heavy smoke over the target after the bombing runs, indicating good results.

Second Lieut. Hartley Seymour, co-pilot of Alexander, La., made his 10th mission in the new Frankfurt attack.

"Our escort was perfect. It looked like we had a million fighters with us," he said.

"Flak was slight but accurate. There was some cloud over the target."

"It looked mighty good up there today," said Staff Sgt. Earle Hill, right waist gunner from Tucson, Ariz. "There were 10 enemy fighters reported by various crew members. We had such a good escort they didn't dare come anywhere near us. It was the best escort I've seen in 15 missions. Our fighters were on both sides of us, above us and below us."

"I saw some smoke over the target after the bomb run, indicating we hit what we were after."

Job Rationing In District, March 1

War Manpower Commission Announces Job Program To Be Followed

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 12.—(INS)—Job rationing of male workers will begin in the Pittsburgh area March 1, it was disclosed today by the war manpower commission.

The 12-man labor-management committee this morning unanimously adopted the "Pittsburgh manpower budget plan," which provides for rules for hiring workers under three headings:

Group 1—Those handling direct contacts with the government will be permitted to hire men for both replacement and expansion needs.

Group 2—Employers whose activities are "essential or locally-needed" will be permitted to hire men for replacement only.

Group 3—Employers in all other categories may have the "leavings" in the manpower market.

The hiring of women will remain unrestricted, except that those in essential activities may not change jobs without authorization.

The move was taken in a last minute attempt to avert a 48-hour week in the area.

O.C.D. Mobilization Plans Announced

Due to the change by the army of practice blackouts once every three months instead of every month, the Office of Civilian Defense has changed its rules somewhat in the matter of mobilization of O.C.D. workers, and a system of control exercises has been substituted.

Under the new plan a state control exercise will be held in the second week of each month and local commanders will call for a monthly drill or exercise. The February exercise is called for Monday, February 14, but because no rain was received here in time to prepare for it the exercise will be postponed. A meeting of all chairmen, directors of defense and other personnel necessary to the plan will be held in the court house Saturday, February 19, by the executive director of the Lawrence county O.C.D., Louis B. Round. At this meeting the plans will be discussed and a date set for the first exercise in this county.

CERTIFICATES ARE BEING AWARDED TO CITIZENS CORPS

In recognition of fifty hours of service in the United States Citizens Corps, certificates of merit are being sent to many of the workers at the present time. This is particularly true of the telephoneists who have done such a grand job of manning the telephones in the control center.

With the certificates go membership cards in the Citizens' Service Corps, which evidence the fact that the holder is a worker in the corps.

The certificates are to be kept by the persons thus honored as an evidence of their patriotism in civilian work during war time. Later certificates and awards will be made for persons having 500 or more hours service.

Two hundred and twenty-five languages, exclusive of dialects, are spoken in India.

March Candidate For Delegate To June Convention

Beaver Falls Man Candidate In Beaver-Lawrence-Butler District In April Primaries

JAMES H. MARCH

James H. March, vice president of the Tribune Printing Company and publisher of the Beaver Falls News-Tribune, today announces his candidacy for delegate to the Republican National Convention from the twenty-fifth congressional district, comprising Beaver, Butler and Lawrence counties.

Mr. March, long active in Republican affairs in the city, county and state, solicits the influence and support of Republican voters throughout the district and pledges, if elected, to represent them and serve their wishes to the best of his ability at the convention session opening in Chicago on June 26.

In line with the prevailing sentiment in Republican circles throughout the nation Mr. March has not committed himself to any particular candidate, or possible contender for the presidential nomination. While he believes that at the present time Governor Dewey of New York is highly favored, yet events between now and the time of nomination may happen so quickly and be of such import as to totally change the political picture. For that reason he will, if elected, serve as an uncommitted delegate, giving his support to the candidate whom he believes will best serve the nation in the difficult days that will lie ahead.

YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX

No. 34 DEDUCTIONS FOR TAXES

Taxes are, in general, a deductible item in arriving at net income for Federal normal tax and surtax purposes.

In the case of taxes incurred in connection with a trade or profession, the amount is shown in Schedule C (2) to arrive at a net profit (or loss) from business or profession entered in item (8) of the return. Form 1040, taxes on rental property should be shown in Schedule C (1), while other taxes deductible should be shown in item 13 of "Deductions." Taxes shown in item 13 must also be supported by an explanation in Schedule F of the deduction. On Short Form 1040, no deductions should be entered for taxes, because the tax table on this form already allows the benefit of an average amount for such deductions.

The deductibility of taxes is subject to four general limitations:

(1) Taxes are generally deductible only by the person upon whom they are, by law, imposed.

(2) Federal income, war profits and excess profits taxes are not deductible for Federal income tax purposes.

(3) Taxes for local benefits, such as assessments for street, sidewalk, sewerage and other local improvements which tend to enhance the value of the property taxed are not deductible except amounts allocable to maintenance or interest charges.

(4) The tax must be a tax for public purposes. Charges for governmental services such as municipal water bills, parking meter charges, service fees and the like are not deductible as taxes, but are deductible as expenses if incurred in a trade or business.

In the case of state and local taxes imposed in the first instance upon retailers, if the amount of the tax is measured by the price of the article sold, or by a sum per unit of the article sold, and is separately stated, the amount paid is deductible by the purchaser.

The Federal tax on gasoline is levied upon the producer or importer and consequently is not deductible by the individual consumer except that in the case of gasoline used for business purposes it may be included in the cost of the gasoline as a business expense.

Federal duties and excise taxes are, in general, imposed upon the manufacturer, importer or dealer, and consequently are not deductible by the consumer or vendee. This applies to the Federal excise tax on automobiles, tires, lubricating oils, mechanical refrigerators, radios and other commodities, as well as to the "luxury taxes" on perfumes, toilet preparations, jewelry and the like. It also applies to the tax on electrical energy, liquor, tobacco, cigarettes, playing cards and the like.

Taxes imposed by the United States Government on the following items may be deducted from 1943 income: admissions, club dues, telephone and telegraph services, safe deposit boxes, transportation of persons and property, use of motor vehicle or boat and documents.

Federal employment (social security) taxes required to be paid by an employer are deductible by the employer, but the amount of such taxes withheld by the employer from the wages or compensation of employees is not deductible by the employee for Federal income tax purposes.

In the case of ad valorem property taxes, the deduction is allowed only to the owner of the property. Thus, if a man and his wife are filing separate returns and the home is owned by the wife, then the property taxes on that home are deductible only in the wife's return.

State income taxes paid are allowable tax deductions in computing normal tax and surtax but not in computing victory tax in the Federal income tax return.

The taxes deductible in computing normal tax and surtax are in general deductible in computing victory tax only if (a) in connection with the carrying on of a trade or business, (b) in connection with property used in trade or business, or (c) in connection with property held for the production of income.

Taxes paid or accrued by a taxpayer with respect to ownership of his home are not deductible for victory tax purposes. Neither are taxes deductible which are paid or incurred by reason of ownership of property held primarily as a sport, hobby or recreation. Taxes which are deductible should be shown in Schedule C (1) or C (2) on page 2 of the return. Form 1040, or in item 16, column 2, on page 1 of the return.

Roll-Back Subsidy Program Opposed

Senator La Follette Says Policy Endangers Food Production Needed For War

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Sen. Robert M. La Follette (D-Wis.), assailed the administration's roll-back subsidy program in senate debate Friday with a warning that the policy endangers food production needed for the war.

"Subsidies are only a minor factor in the government price structure program," he said. "The efficiency of subsidies in stabilizing the cost of living has been grossly exaggerated."

He contended that roll-back subsidies are "an indefinite device created in misconception of the stabilization act and the clear intent of congress."

"I think we sometimes overlook the magnitude of our problem in obtaining maximum food production for our armed forces, our Allies and the civilian population," said La Follette.

"Too often have agencies acted as if they could write blank checks on our food and industrial resources without overhauling the account."

The 1944 food program, he said, calls for an increase over 1943 which registered a phenomenal increase of 32 percent over the 1935-39 average.

"It is my view that adequate prices covering cost of production are necessary if we are to meet the enormous goal we have set for food production in 1944," he said.

Senators Alarmed

He said that senators from agricultural areas "must be alarmed" over recent events. Huge quantities of meat were lost, he said, because farmers were forced to dump hogs on the market before they were fully fed. The low price of hogs, he said, is forcing the sale of flocks of chickens.

Concerning that there is a serious cost of living problem, La Follette urged adoption of the La Follette-Aliken food stamp plan to subsidize low income groups. This, he said, is the surest way to prevent suffering because of an increase in the farm prices, which is necessary to obtain sufficient production.

La Follette said that the food stamp plan would bring assistance to 6,500,000 families, or 22,800,000 persons.
